How we help clients

- Combining our tax expertise and proprietary cutting-edge platform, including simulations and analytics, to reposition your tax function as forward looking as opposed to retrospective
- Automation driving significant efficiency in tax reporting and managing of tax risk with intelligent validation models for identifying anomalies
- Optimise your processes with improved controls and governance through a centralised platform enabling secured sharing and traceability, enhancing collaboration on your operations
- Upskill your team with tax knowledge and tech capabilities to quickly adapt to the constantly evolving tax law changes and business growth

What clients say about us

I like that the system has the ability to compare and assess the tax obligations of different scenarios. It's also provided us analytics with meaningful insights, so we can make the right decision moving forward.” – Head of Tax

The system has lots of built-in validation checks and alerts for exceptions. I can focus on resolving these issues first and this has saved me a lot of time especially when I'm responsible for hundreds of entities within the group.” – Tax Manager

About Tax Technology

As the world transforms to a technology-driven and data-enabled environment, forward-thinking companies realise the value of leveraging technology and data to drive greater efficiency, improve tax processes and manage risk. By adapting to technology, tax functions can now have the ability to contribute more strategically to the overall business.

Our team of tax technology professionals offers an unrivalled mix of talent across information technology, tax and accounting in China and Hong Kong. The team has extensive experience in project management, business requirement and process analysis, technical development, quality assurance, systems infrastructure, working with major ERPs, and artificial intelligence tools including RPA, data processing intelligence, and business intelligence analytics.

Combining our tax expertise and cutting edge technology including our proprietary tax technology platform, we provide best practice process optimisation service and automation solution in areas of tax reporting, data management and analytics for tax audit and risk management, corporate tax, value added tax, transfer pricing, R&D incentive, individual income tax/payroll, and more. Tailored to your needs, our team will work with your tax functions to implement a robust, secure and agile tax ecosystem to meet the fast changing business and tax regulatory environment.
